

A LEVEL DRAMA AND THEATRE

Drama and Theatre offers students the opportunity to explore drama as a practical art form, in which ideas and meaning are communicated to an audience through choices of form, style and convention. It is particularly suitable for those wishing to pursue arts-related degree courses. It is relevant for those wishing to pursue a career in the theatre, film or television. It is also useful for any career involving communications or public relations. Students need to have a genuine interest in performance/theatre and to be prepared to work practically at all times. It is a requirement of the course that students perform to a live audience.

You will:

- create, perform and respond to drama and theatre
- develop the creativity and independence to become effective theatre makers
- explore the relationship between theory and practice in a range of theatrical styles and periods and historical, social and cultural contexts
- learn how relevant research, independent thought and analysis of live theatre production can inform decision making in their practical work and put this understanding into practice
- experience the ways in which theatre makers collaborate to create theatre.

The three components you are assessed on are as follows:

This is assessed through a working notebook and a Devised Performance.

You will:

- Practically explore and interpret three script extracts each taken from a different play
- Apply the methodology of a prescribed practitioner
- Perform one of these extracts as a final assessed piece

This is assessed through a performance in the second year of the course and the report.
